The Nativity of the Lord - Christmas
December 25, 2021

"[T]here were shepherds in that region living in the fields and keeping the night watch over their flock." Luke 2:8

Shepherds in the days of that first Christmas, in the days of Caesar Augustus, did not always enjoy a favorable reputation with their fellow Jews. Their work often kept them from attending to religious duties and observing the Law precisely. So, for many, they were ranked with sinners (cf. Xavier Léon-Dufour, Dictionary of Biblical Theology, p. 541). Their work was relentless, tiring and always vigilant for predators that would devour their sheep. But God chose them to be the first, apart from the Blessed Mother, to hear the "good news."

The noted biblical scholar, Xavier Léon-Dufour, proposes a most charming explanation for the place of Jesus' birth. He suggests that the Savior of the world was born on that first Christmas night in a stable belonging to these same shepherds who were "living in the fields and keeping the night watch" (ibid., p. 542). When "the angel of the Lord appeared to them" (Luke 2:9), they were justifiably afraid. But the angel points them home. The heavenly messenger reassures them and announces, "good news of great joy" (Luke 2:10). They go in haste to Bethlehem, with no further directions than that they will "find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger" (Luke 2:12). The shepherds' own stable is the refuge for the family turned away at the inn.

And, so, the Savior of the world, who will preach a message of repentance and mercy to sinners, is born in the stable of poor shepherds. The glory of the Lord appears to them in the fields of their work, accompanied by the bleating of sheep and goats, the howling of wolves hiding in wait, still darkness and a silent moon arising from the horizon. It was the night of the Savior's birth. How appropriate that shepherds would be the first to see a Redeemer who would live and die for the sinner.

And like the tax collectors and lepers, the Gentile soldier and Samaritan woman, the shepherds would be messengers of the Good News. "When they saw" the infant just as the angel had described they would, "they made known the message that had been told them about this child" (Luke 2:17). While we call Mary the first apostle, we must see the shepherds as the first evangelists.

Christmas belongs to shepherds, the shepherds of grassy hills and chilly nights. They tend their flocks and protect their sheep. They are the guardians of their terrain. Only an unexpected tumult of angels could frighten them. Only a babe in swaddling clothes could comfort them.

Christmas reassures not only the shepherds but also those who are innocent enough to see bands of angels, to believe, and to run in haste to Bethlehem.

Such purity of heart that conquers the world is what perhaps inspired Shakespeare to pen those words spoken by another frightened watchman in Hamlet. Having seen the ghost of a murdered king, Marcellus strives to invoke the victory of good over evil that Christmas represents. He speaks thus:

Some say that ever 'gainst that season comes
Wherein our Saviour's birth is celebrated,
This bird of dawning singeth all night long;
And then, they say, no spirit dare stir abroad,
The nights are wholesome, then no planets strike,
No fairy takes, nor witch hath power to charm,
So hallow'd and so gracious is the time.
(Hamlet, Act I, Scene I, Marcellus to Horatio and Bernardo)

The world today desperately needs to hear this message of "so gracious [a] time." As mankind loses balance and forgets God, it takes flight into passing fads and material things which offer no hope. We seek diversion in things that cannot last. Happiness eludes us because we look for it in the wrong places. We are, in the words of the great Louisiana writer, "lost in the cosmos" (cf. Walker Percy).

The shepherds keep calling us back to Bethlehem. They point the way to the manger in their stable. They point us to the changeless, and away from the transitory. Why do we maintain the delusion of creating a world without God and in so doing create instead a world to destroy man (cf. Henri de Lubac)?

The shepherds appear at our door and announce, "good news of great joy." The humble shepherds! Really the least likely of messengers. Perhaps that is why today the "good news of great joy" becomes endangered. This secular and materialistic world ignores humble messengers. So accustomed are we to noise, the screaming commercials, the alluring enticements, the pursuit of pleasure, the constant assault of electronic gadgets—the "good news of great joy" does not have a chance. It is drowned out.

There is a reason the "good news of great joy" is first proclaimed to shepherds. The meek will inherit the earth. The poor will become rich. The hungry will be well fed. Maybe we should return home and be surprised by what we find.

May God grant us simplicity of heart. Like lowly shepherds, may we be innocent enough to hear angels and hasten to Bethlehem. And may we like them, never be the same again because we have seen the "infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger." Merry Christmas!

Bishop's Bible Study

There will be no Bible Study with Bishop Provost in January. The next women's luncheon will be February 2 and the next men's breakfast will be February 4.

On January 11, 2022, at 5:30 pm, Reverend Alex Harb, an Eastern-rite Catholic Priest of the Eparchy of Our Lady of Lebanon of Los Angeles, will celebrate Holy Mass in the Maronite Rite at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. Father Harb is the Pastor of St. Sharbel Maronite Catholic Mission in New Orleans, LA. Everyone is invited to attend and experience this Mass.

Here's an explanation from Father Alex: "God is beyond our understanding, and His Church is bigger and broader than we think. Many Christians have prayed at one kind of Mass their whole lives. However, since the time of Pentecost, the apostles evangelized different cities and different peoples in different ways, incorporating the most beautiful and good elements of a culture into how they talk about God and how they worship God. These communities and ways of praying have continued since the time of the apostles preserving these different expressions of prayer just as the four gospels preserve different perspectives on Jesus. While most parishioners at the Cathedral are Roman Catholic, there are other Catholics who are not Roman Catholics, but belong to the One, Holy, Catholic, and Apostolic Church that Jesus founded. We also call these 23 groups 'Catholic Churches,' such as the Ukrainian Catholic Church, the Melkite Catholic Church, the Ethiopian Catholic Church, and the Maronite Catholic Church. On January 11th, members of the Maronite Catholic Church will offer a Maronite Mass at the Cathedral. This is a Catholic Mass, in a different style than the Roman Mass that you celebrate every day. At this Mass, you will smell more incense than you are used to, hear more chanting than you are used to, and witness beautiful poetic prayers presenting the mystery of God and His revelation. You do not need to be Maronite to attend the Maronite Mass."

"The Faith Clarified," an online Zoom course offered through the Center for Catholic Studies, begins Wednesday, January 12, 2022. The five-week course, instructed by Sister Maura Clare Mayock, R.S.M., will cover basics of the Catholic faith in a new light, bringing these teachings together into a unified whole.

The course will be from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. every Wednesday from January 12 through February 9. Zoom meeting link will be provided for all who register. Class will include lecture time and a period for questions and discussion. Cost is $15.

There are no required texts for this course, but it is recommended that you have a copy of the bible and the Catechism of the Catholic Church, 2nd Edition (1997 or newer). Prayer for the Recovery of the Diocese of Lake Charles following Hurricane Laura Heavenly Father, Who willed that the fallen hut of David be rebuilt; that Your people return from exile to repopulate their lands, rebuild Jerusalem and restore the Temple; that Your Son, Jesus Christ, would be the new temple and that He would build a new Jerusalem, firmly set on the twelve apostles of the Lamb; look, Gracious Creator, upon our devastation now in the Diocese of Lake Charles and along the coast; rouse up in the hearts of many good and faithful workers the courage, perseverance, and fortitude to bring Your task to a successful completion, where what is recovered will give Your name glory and be protected from the onslaught of the Devil; put to flight lethargy of spirit and fortify our wills so that the good works of Your faithful people will be seen as fulfilling Your work; grant that we will comprehend Your ways and see in every suffering and tribulation an occasion to embrace Your will and grow in love for You. Grant, loving Father, through the same Jesus Christ, our Lord, all these prayers by the intercession of Our Lady Star of the Sea, You, who live and reign in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God forever and ever. Amen.

The Most Reverend Glen John Provost

Bishop of Lake Charles

On the occasion of Hurricane Laura, August 27, 2020

PRAYER OF THE WEEK THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD

Almighty ever-living God, who, when Christ had been baptized in the River Jordan and as the Holy Spirit descended upon him, solemnly declared him your beloved Son, grant that your children by adoption, reborn of water and the Holy Spirit, may always be well pleasing to you. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God, for ever and ever.

Reflection question:

What can I do this week to be well pleasing to God?
